PEOPLES' RELIEF CONFERENCE ON NEW IMMIGRATION LAW.

Boston: (J. T. A.) Jewish organizations of Boston acting through the Peoples' Relief Committee met last week to discuss the situation arising out of the law limiting immigration into the United States. It was felt that the work of Jewish organizations throughout the country should center on a campaign against the continuation of the law now in effect. The conference decided to get the co-operation of similar bodies in the United States and together carry on propaganda against making the Dillingham Law a permanent one. In the eight months that remain for the law to operate the Peoples' Relief Societies of Boston will strive to prevent the enactment of a new bill which would limit immigration into this country for a more extended period than one year

All Light Blue

With White Lamps

Illuminating.

The Elk's Hall was the scene of the wonderful dance that was given by the Y. M. H. A. in honor of Corsicana and the other visitors. The hall was decorated with white and blue streamers draped from the chandeliers to every corner of the hall. On the curtain of the stage a Jewish star draped in blue and white lights in all six corners of the star. This caused many an ah! and oh! from the visitors. A grand march started the affair and as the line marched around the hall programs were distributed by the two mascots of the baseball team, Morris Jacobson and Isidore Kaplan. During the intermission, through the courtesy of Mr. Abe Levy, manager of the Strand, slides originated by Mr. Ab Gollob about the different players & boosters were thrown on he screen, later followed by the Literary Digest Topics of the Day. The Wopsy Dancers performed also and was recalled several times by the audience. Jack Foster's Orchestra furnished the music for the evening.

Sly Sayings by Zippie.

What did Lena Aronson tell Isie Fred when he made a run from second on a single and had to slide at home to make?

Who was Julius Berkman thinking of when he forgot to run home on the hit and run play in the seventh? I guess he was thinking of Zipp.

What happened to Doc when he told Gabe Goldberg that he was on the road to heaven, when he started to touch him for a few hits. It seems as though Doc hypnotized him. Did you notice the movement of his hands?

What was Monk trying to do with second base when he hit that double. Seems as though Monk thought he was riding in a show case with Cleby. You know the front seats are far apart and you have to hold on to keep from sliding off.

Tell me is Symore swimming or dancing.

Where was Joe Roscoe that night? Seems some one kidnapped him.

Isie be careful, your wife will be back soon.

Why didn't Zubie get him a pair of glasses to find tha ball. Usually he finds everything at a glance. I guess he lost his eyesight when he saw his girl in the grand stand looking and hollering. Please hit that ball, and oh, how he tried, but he, with all his might swung at the next ball and struck out and all she said was "Uh-huh!"

Ben Lewis must have been practicing his new method of catching balls. First hollah, I got it, then run for it, then catch it, then throw it, then take off his cap to the grand stand wher they clapp for him. He shore did catch them balls. The girls cannot affect his eyesight, because Doc fitted him up with a pair of glasses before the game.

Aron played that same old play, Never miss a one.

Harry held the crowd in suspense (Suspenders) when he caught Louie Wolens' slidin ito second. He shore tore a hole in his pants. This makes the third suit Harry has been given.

Waco Y. M. H. A. Defeats Corsicana Y. M. H. A. in Classic Game.

Approximately three hundred spectators enjoyed the game staged at the Cotton Palace Ball Park at Waco on Sunday, August 7th Without a doubt this was he best game played on the diamond this year.

One of the sensational moments of the game was when Jaffe of the visitors drove one to deep center which looked good for a home run, but Fielder Lewis recovered the ball and threw it to Strauss who made a perfect peg in home, catching the player at the plate.

Bugger Babe Ruth Goodman had an off day and was relieved in the fifth by Berkman, who pulled a couple of high ones out of the air. Fielder Lewis played a perfect game in his position. Zubie Tobian showed old time speed in running bases. Fred led in batting, making an average of four hits out of as many times up. Aronson was in form on second and Schwartz at first played perfect. Strauss held down the keystone corner and later relieved Fred in the box. "Monk" Genecov played the act behind the bat and bids well to become the "find" of the season. Esserman worked at short.

Gabe Goldberg, Southpaw of the visitors pitched the best ball this game that he ever has, while Levy behind the plate, kept the second sack covered. Jaffee, H. Levy, A. Levy and Goldberg used the stick effectively for the visitors. S. Jacobs in right and H. Jacobs in center, fielded 1,000. Wolens and —Jacobs crossed the plate for runs.
